OPEN FORUM THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 19TH 1:00 P.M. MACON STATE COLLEGE

An Open Forum will be held on Thursday, February 19th at Macon State College. The Forum will begin at 1:00 and continue until approximately 4:30.

With the majority of the decisions made and the project in the Design and Configuration stage, this will be the first opportunity for the project team to share important information with all of you. The Leads and Co-Leads will be presenting; (1) What you can be doing now to prepare, (2) What processes will be changing, and (3) Exciting features of the new system!

Also, we will discuss the schedule for the remainder of the project, including the training schedule, training sites, and communications.

There is space for each institution to have 10 attendees at the Forum, which will be held in the new building at Macon State College. There will not be a registration fee, but we will need a head count. A detailed Agenda, Directions, and Instructions of where to send your headcount will be added to the Shared Services website and distributed to all the list serves the week of February 2nd.
