

Collaborative Induction of Beginning Teachers through GSTEP

Strategic Focus: This initiative was a collaborative project between the National Commission on Teaching and America's Future, Georgia State University, four partner urban school districts, and the P-16 Department of the University System of Georgia.

Strategies:

- This initiative built on the Regents' requirement that USG educator preparation institutions provide support for their graduates during their first two years in the classroom.
- The project used the Georgia Framework for Teaching, which was newly adopted by the State Board to unify the expectations and support for new teachers provided by schools and teacher preparation institutions.
- Through the Georgia Committee on Quality Teaching, the Georgia Department of Education, Professional Standards Commission, and the University System of Georgia agreed to work toward adoption of this Framework for teacher preparation, licensure, induction, and continued professional learning.
