RECOGNITION OF GUESTS

Chancellor Erroll B. Davis, Jr. recognized Representative Earl Ehrhart who represents District 36 and serves as the Vice Chair of the House Higher Education Appropriations Committee. Representative Ehrhart gave brief remarks to the Board, thanking them for their service. As he acknowledged the difficult economic times the state is facing and the hard decisions the legislature must make, Representative Ehrhart stated that the University System and the Board have his continued support.
Chancellor Davis also recognized several members of the Kennesaw State University Student Government Association. These student representatives included SGA president Daniel Street, secretary David Noren, and senators Jasmine Harris, Roslyn Hedgepeth and Bobby Leitmann.

CHANCELLOR’S REPORT

In his report, Chancellor Erroll B. Davis, Jr. covered five items: the budget, the capital request, proposed gun legislation, future items that will require Board action, and a new contact in the Chancellor’s Office. The Chancellor presented the Governor’s recommendations for the System to the Joint Appropriations Committees on January 21, 2010. He thanked Regents Jenkins, NeSmith, and Potts for their support. Chancellor Davis noted that the sense of the hearing was that all understand how tough times are and that System leadership is doing its utmost to manage the reductions in the face of exploding demand.

Long-term, the Chancellor and his staff are concerned about the disruption the current budget is having on the Board’s six-year Capital Improvement Program. Last year, the System received $367 million in capital authority from the state. This year the amount is approximately $121 million. Due to the System’s rapid growth, previously identified state funded capital needs over the next several years exceed the General Obligation (“G.O.”) bonds that will likely be available for the System. When the traditional G.O. Bond mechanism previously proved insufficient to meet these growing needs, new sources of facilities financing were identified including the System’s Public-Private Venture program and the Georgia Higher Education Facilities Authority (“GHEFA”). As the numbers of students continue to grow, however, the bar will be raised again, and the System will need more technology-savvy space to meet the needs of higher education going forward.

Regarding the proposed gun legislation, Chancellor Davis noted that the bills introduced in both houses would expand the places where citizens could carry firearms including on University System campuses. The System leadership presented a resolution before the House Judiciary Non-Civil Committee, signed by Chairman Hatcher, Chancellor Davis and all 35 presidents, supporting current law and opposing this change. Chancellor Davis also gave the Regents a snapshot of some of the actions they would be asked to take over the next six months. These include but are not limited to: adopting Principles to Guide Innovation (March), approving recommendations on tuition, fees, and institutional budget allocations (April), approving the System’s Fiscal year 2011 Operating Budgets (June), and the approval of the Fiscal year Budget request (August). Finally, Chancellor Davis congratulated Ms. Demetra Morgan on her new position outside of the System and introduced Ms. Sabrina M. Thompson as his new executive assistant.

PRESENTATION: PRINCIPLES TO GUIDE INNOVATION

Chancellor Erroll B. Davis, Jr. presented the Board with Principles to Guide Innovation. He stated that in order to preserve its academic excellence, reputation and competitiveness, given the projections for continued economic pressures and explosive student growth, the University System must accelerate the pace of innovation in both administrative and academic areas. The Chancellor gave the following principles, which are designed to both facilitate and motivate a climate of innovation throughout the System.

Preamble: The Board of Regents assumes that any proposed innovations will be of high quality and student focused. It also assumes that institutions will fuel innovation through the capture of operating efficiencies and the vigorous pursuit of both incremental and diversified resources outside of normal state and student funding processes.

1. Give priority to innovations that enhance and hone present institutional missions rather than expanding missions.
2. Consider innovations that increase student learning, research and faculty productivity.
3. Investigate innovations that challenge existing student life, academic and academic support structures.
4. Consider innovations that reprogram existing infrastructure use.
5. Give priority within the limits of their mission to academic programs that meet demonstrated state need.
6. Utilize the collective power of the University System.
7. Be prepared to take measured risks in the process of innovation.

Chancellor Davis stated that the System Office will be available as a resource and will give institutional proposals for innovative practices that require policy changes an expedited review and response. Conversely, presidents will be evaluated, in part, on their ability to be vigorous and innovative leaders who have engaged their entire campus communities in the process of rethinking the institution’s future path in an increasing complex world with scarce resources.
